FRIDAY, FEB. 15, 1850 tives is exceedingly impolitic and ill-adviso It is not true that we have undertaken to practice. It would work injuriously ever where-but especially will it work badly in fused to vote for Mr. Aiken for the Speaket-ship. We think, that, under the circumstances, city where the temiency is very strong to presu ship. We think, that, under the circumstances, they did wrong. Still we say that there was more excuse for them than for the two Demomore excuse for the two Demomor crats who refused to vote for Aiken, especially as one of the latter virtually voted for casion of life and death. This we say having casion of life and death. This we say having Banks by pairing off with a Pennsylvanian who the highest respect for the present estimable i was not a bitter one, and most assuredly it was The editor of the Washington Sentinel not so strong an indication of Abolitionism at who was recently beaten as a candidate for the the part of five Northern Americans to let printing of the Senate by Mr. Nicholson of the Banks be elected by their refusal to vote for a Washington Union, says:

Banks be elected by their refusal to vote for a political opponent as it was on the part of the two Northern Democrats to let him be elected by refusing to vote for a political friend. The two Northern Americans wouldn't help defeat the Black Republican candidate by supporting a political enemy, while the two Northern Democrats wouldn't help defeat the Black Republican candidate by supporting a political enemy, while the two Northern Democrats wouldn't help defeat the Black candidate by voting for a man of their own party. The course of the two may be accounted for upon other grounds than those of abo itomism, but that of the two admits of no other explanation than a desire to see the abolitionat elected. So the responsibility of the National American party for the conduct of its recreant members is not half so great as that of the Democratic party for the conduct of its recreants.

The Levisrille Democratical rays that "the rear-
